What are the ot rx for retained palmar grasp reflex

12:59:24 From Martin to Everyone:

Really enjoyed the session, I remember once trying to explain the role of stimulation to a child's reflexes, and I gave an example of a millipede, that if you touch it roll up or run away, the caregiver was able to relate what therapy is especially for cp kids. Thank you

13:01:22 From Ann Fordie to Everyone:

Very brilliant session! I learnt a lot

13:01:48 From Ann Fordie to Everyone:

Kindly share the link to the training

13:02:53 From Moses Burwaniza to Everyone:

Thank you for the great presentation.

I am learning that reflex integration is almost similar to sensory integration. And for every reflex movement has a sensory trigger, could we be able to know some of the reflex movements with their sensory triggers?

13:05:31 From ROBERT WAKYEMBA to Everyone:

What happens if reflexes are not integrated

13:05:31 From Binti to Everyone:

Thanks for the beautiful presentation. I hope 🙏 we will get the recorded presentation.

13:08:10 From Israel wakyama to Everyone:

Thanks kokeb for the presentation.

How best can we district palmer grasp reflex retention with other challenges with coordination/ motor planning?

13:09:38 From Barbara Luborsky to Everyone:

Integratingreflexes.com

13:09:50 From Ann Fordie to Everyone:

We see a new trend on social media with, chiropractors using lasers and other methods address reflex concerns. Are these methods used in the OT Scope?

Do we also notice 100% improvement when we tackle reflexes or it requires a combination of different treatment methodology?

13:14:24 From Andrew Mtawa to Everyone:

Come again on the app and where can we get it

13:23:57 From Ann Fordie to Everyone:

Thank you 🙏

13:26:52 From Ann Fordie to Everyone:

This was awesome

I learnt so much

13:26:53 From Israel wakyama to Everyone:

Thanks, so much am really learning.

In my past experiences, I have come to understand that the way to Elicit an appropriate reflex is having a child better positioned in an appropriate position for a given reflex. This can help to distinct reflex actions with other coordination or motor planning challenges like you mentioned with cp. Therapist can take into account of it and if possible I request you expound more and may be share with us your experience about this. Thanks.

13:26:59 From Moses Burwaniza to Everyone:

Thank you so much for the great work
